MAGAZINE

ONE of the biggest problems is exactly what to wear when you feel that the summer is over and yet it is not cold enough to wear tweeds and boots.

Most shops decide for us and by the end of August boots, winter coats and thick sweaters are with us once again.

Lee Bender of BUS STOP in Kensington is one of the few designers who has taken it into consideration that in September some people will be wearing lightweight dresses and suits.

SEPTEMBER STYLES

Pictured above are three of her designs which will be in the shop by mid-September.

From right to left: a coullotte dress available in sand, apricot, black, and plum (99s. 6d.); a black hipster skirt with matching battle jacket (about £5 19s. 6d.); and a gaberdine little girl dress available in black wine, chocolate and navy, (89s. 6d.).
